Taking of Fifteenth Decennial Census Under Way With New Features

EDWARD W. PICKARD, U.S. Census Bureau, is counting his nephews and nieces and finding out who is in the United States. In other words, the fifteenth decennial census is being taken. This job will be finished in the cities within two weeks of the start, and in the rural districts within the month. Besides population, this census includes unemployment, agriculture, irrigation, drainage, manufactures, mining, and distribution. The distribution census, which is a new feature, is made up of statistics of goods sold by wholesale and retail merchants and dealers and of the number of persons employed in trade. Unemployment, considered as a separate subject of inquiry, also is new, although some of the previous censuses have included a single question asking the number of months in which persons have been unemployed during the year.

For the first time each family is asked whether it owns or rents its home, the value of the home or how much rent is paid. Another new question concerns the age of each individual in the family. A third question, "Is there a radio set in your home?" is new. It is expected to furnish valuable information never before compiled in the United States.

It will be interesting to compare the results of the count with the figures given by the census clock, an ingenious piece of mechanism in the office of the director of the census in Washington. At one minute after midnight on April 1, when the count started officially, the clock gave the population of the United States as 22,388,000.

The enumerators actually began their work on April 1, when the census clock started. Afternoon President Hoover met J. Sterling Morgan, superintendent of the census in the District of Columbia, outside the White House and handed him a filled out family schedule. The clock was confidential, as is the case with the report of every other person in the country.

Missouri, New Jersey and Idaho contested for the honor of having completed the first district in the census. Centerville, Colo. county, Mo., which has no more than 100 people, was the first to complete the census. It is the exact geographical center of the state, telegraphed its claim to be the first town to complete the census, to census headquarters. The census clock was started by Dr. J. L. Coulter, chief economist of the census, at 9:30 a. m. on April 1, when the census clock was started.

THOUGH not dry and figures are not included in the census, those supplied by the Literary Digest's national straw vote are being given out daily and are apparently significant enough to give the supporters of prohibition in its present form considerable concern. Dry leaders protest that this poll is unfair, and Senators Jones and Dill of Washington are expected to introduce legislation to prevent the use of the poll.

Dr. McBride declared that the doctor would release another German invasion.

WHATEVER else comes out of the London naval conference, there is to be a three-power limitation agreement. It was officially announced at American delegation headquarters Thursday that the American, British and Japanese navies had agreed to limit the size of their navies. The Japanese navy, which has been building up since the war, was to be limited to the size of the American navy.

Because of the consideration of the tariff bill on the floor of the house of representatives, the Judiciary committee's hearings on the eighteenth amendment were postponed. Dr. F. Scott McBride, superintendent of the Anti-Slavery League, and four other dry leaders were permitted to testify before the committee on the eighteenth amendment. The committee will hold its hearings on the eighteenth amendment on the floor of the house.

HERE'S A CHANCE TO BE INDIAN FIGHTER

"Pay-as-You-Enter" First Requirement.

San Francisco.—The first pay-as-you-enter Indian fight in the West's history is scheduled to leave Douglas, Ariz., May 7.

It is not a private fight, this Indian expedition against the Apaches of Old Mexico. According to promotional material, any genuine Indian fighter, amateur or professional, may sign up to go to the year if he is possessed of good moral character and approximately $250 American gold.

The announced purpose of the expedition is to rescue from the Apaches the seven-year-old son of Francisco Flores, asserted to have been kidnapped at the time his mother was murdered October 20, 1923.

Regarding With Amusement.

The Apaches are camped at the Canyon of the Caves in the Sierra Madre mountains, 100 miles south of the international line. The expedition is to make a surprise march against them, confident that no Indian chief has had the nerve to lead a party of white men into the interior of the Mexican territory.

When last heard of the Koonhaan from La Plata, Argentina, for the month of May, 1923, the expedition was in the hands of the Koonhaan. The expedition was in the hands of the Koonhaan.

PREVENT TYPHOID

The second case of typhoid fever has been reported at the Southside Health District. It is now well known to most people that this disease is contracted only by getting germs that come from human bowel discharges into a susceptible person. This may be done through the water, contaminated milk, soiled hands or food contaminated by soiled hands.

With this knowledge before us it is clear that if the bowel discharges are properly disposed of, the water, milk and food protected against contamination, and the flies kept out of the homes and away from food, there would be no typhoid fever. It is possible to do all of these things if every one would work to get to that end, but it is impossible to get all the people to do this.

A second method of preventing typhoid fever that is very reliable and may be used by any individual without regard to the conduct of his neighbors is Typhoid Vaccine. It takes Typhoid Vaccine a few weeks to have its maximum effect and the spring of the year is a good time to get vaccinated against typhoid, which is so much more prevalent in the summer and fall.
